are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

2. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species C: Figure 4, claim 4.

Species D: Figures 5A-5B, claim 7.

Species E: Figures 10A-10B, claim 6.

Species H: Figures 14A-14B, claims 5.

Currently, there is no generic claim.

3. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Species: A, claim 1 is directed to a special technical feature "a pouch within a pressurized chamber and which increases and decreases in internal capacity through intake and exhausting of gas".

Species: C, claim 4 is directed to special technical feature "an actuator such as air cylinder and a voice coil motor, and a diaphragm which transforms under influence of said actuator and increases and decreases capacity inside said pressurized chamber".

Species: D, claim 7 is directed to special technical feature "a plurality of viscous material supply devices for transferring said viscous material under pressure to said pressurized chamber".

Art Unit: 3754

Species: E, claim 6 is directed to special technical feature "a plurality of discharge pressure regulating devices for regulating a discharge pressure of said viscous material".

Species: H, claim 5 is directed to a common special technical feature "a single pressure chamber, discharge pressure regulating device and discharge port are shared across a plurality of linearly aligned viscous material supply devices.

Thus, there is found to be no common technical feature that serves as a uniform base for these groups of inventions.

4. Applicants are advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

5. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
